

Real Relationships vs Facebook Virtual Friends

Questions: (Assume that all 4 people have Facebook pages.)

1. Can Doug gain access to Alice's Facebook page?
2. Would doing so violate the court's order of protection for Alice?
3. What's the best fix for this conflict of relationships?

Possible Answers:

1. Doug might be ordered to delete his Facebook account—unlikely and probably ineffective since he'd just create another account.
2. Betty and Chip could unfriend each other—unlikely since they probably like each other and other routes from them might link Doug back to Alice, or the link from Doug to Alice might not even use Betty or Chip anyway.
3. Best answer so far: Alice must delete her Facebook account—not a happy solution because Alice probably needs emotional divorce support from her friends wherever they are—real or virtual.
